Dear Feng Wang,

I hereby invite you to join the Department of Geomatics Engineering, University of Calgary as a visiting PhD student, upon your successful application and receipt of a scholarship from the Harbin Engineering University. The period of your studying in my lab will be from November 2022 to December 2023 and you will be conducting research on Computer vision and Image processing.

I would be delighted to serve as your research advisor during your stay at University of Calgary and mentor you on your proposed research. I understand that all expenses including insurance, travel and living accommodation will be sponsored by Harbin Engineering University. Our research group will help you complete any paperwork necessary for your visit. There will be no tuition fee during this period.

We are delighted to have you visit our group. We believe that both you and our research group will benefit substantially from your time in the University of Calgary. Please note this invitation letter is for your scholarship application. For visa application, the invitation letter has to be signed by our university formal officer. That means we need to issue another invitation letter to you later for your visa application when the scholarship is approved.

Please feel free to contact me regarding to any inquiries on the visit and relevant issues.

Sincerely Yours,

Ruisheng Wang
